McElroy Deutsch

Hospitality

Providing hotel and resort developers and operators with full-service representation.

McElroy Deutsch's experienced hospitality lawyers provide hotel and resort developers with full-service legal representation in the negotiation of agreements with hotel operators, including management, franchise, technical service and related agreements, and agreements with investors, lenders, and contractors.

Our hospitality attorneys also provide comprehensive legal services for hotel and resort management and for owning companies in connection with the sale and purchase of hotels and resorts, internal structuring requirements, and matters arising in the day-to-day operation of hotels and resorts.

Through McElroy Deutsch's other practice groups, clients in the hospitality industry are also provided with assistance in other areas, such as land use, labor law, litigation, and tax planning.
