McElroy Deutsch

Retail

McElroy Deutsch's retail lawyers have represented a varied range of clients in the retail industry, nationally and locally. Our extensive litigation practice enables us to provide comprehensive representation to our retail clients while achieving the most efficient results possible, to maximize their business objectives.

Our representation of retail clients is not limited to litigation but also extends to transactional matters. Our retail attorneys handle regulatory compliance issues, have negotiated complex vendor relationships, and have extensive experience in complex commercial lease negotiations.
